

ZANDERS Consulting & Training B.V.

ZANDERS Consulting & Training B.V. is a company operating in the field of consulting, training and research with focus on concrete results and improvements.

The major objective of ZANDERS is helping people and organizations to improve their structures and skills for decision-making, management and communication. High quality of structures and skills are particular needed when companies and organizations are confronted with incidents, accidents or emergencies.

Generally there is a lot of knowledge and a wide range of support available at operational level. However, especially the process-based, communicative and psychological aspects often prove to be the most critical.

ZANDERS Consulting & Training B.V. is particularly specialized in improvement of these aspects and in this respect provides decisive additional added value compared to most other companies in this field. Moreover, we offer various management supporting tools to create a more efficient management of your organization and to warrant results.

Our approach has a proven track record, no wonder that ZANDERS has a number of leading companies in the Netherlands among our customers.

ZANDERS Consulting & Training B.V., for consulting, training and research. To improve decision-making, management and communication skills based on a system- and behavioral-oriented perspective.

- Screening and auditing of systems and plans
- Providing support and mediation in organizations
- Management consultancy, organizational research and feasibility studies
- Specialized in crisis and safety management
- Creating or adjusting management systems, crisis management plans, contingency plans, business continuity plans etc.
- Providing training, exercises and workshops with focus on: decision-making, management, communication, assistance and aftercare
- Support in risk management and risk control

Background information

Vision

ZANDERS Consulting & Training B.V. is specialized in process and behavioral aspects playing a role in management, decision-making and communication. Focus is on the central role of people in the organization. We believe that passion and competencies in an effective operating company leads to the best benefits and results. ZANDERS provides full commitment to his clients. Together with our customers we realize concrete final results with full accountability.

ZANDERS wants to fulfill a strong and convincing role positioning us in the middle of the consulting and advisory elements. That's why we use the lighthouse as symbol of our vision.

Employees

The people who work for ZANDERS are experienced professionals with a solid theoretical background and considerable practical experience in business and public administration. Not only as a consultant or trainer, but because of their experience as such they have been confronted and know about possible problems and tensions that organizations have to deal with sometimes. This enables them to empathize themselves with your organization and given their realistic, but critical eye they are able to provide significant added value for your organization.

Customers

Most of the time we work for Executive Boards, management and directors of companies and government. But we also work for emergency response officers, fire officers, communication officers etc.

For more information: <http://www.zct.nl>